

that attention has been attracted. Members of the Chicago regiment of the National Guard are anxious to help the Cubans as soon as the opportunity is afforded.

NABED THE FILIBUSTERS.

The Cuban Expedition That Came to Grief on the North Side of Jamaica.

KROSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 8.—As the Sun has already been advised, by cable, a filibustering expedition, with arms and ammunition for Cuba, was captured at Anotta Bay by the customs authorities of that island on Monday evening, Dec. 7. Señor Larra, a well-known Cuban revolutionary, was in command of the party, and he, with eight of his accomplices, have been apprehended on a warrant charging them with a breach of the Foreign Enlistment act. They have been lodged in the Falmouth District Prison, and the case will come up for hearing early in January. Capt. Miller of the racing sloop Maggie has also been arrested on the same charge. It is alleged that the Maggie was chartered to convey the expedition to the Cuban coast.

It has been known in Cuban circles for some time past that an expedition of the kind would be attempted. The party consisted of twelve filibusters, some of whom were carrying dynamite and arms and ammunition. The party was captured by the Cuban Junta here, with whom Señor Larra has been for some time in contact. The expedition was intended to land on the north side of Jamaica, and was to be a surprise attack on the beach at Anotta Bay. The customs authorities alleged that the party was carrying dynamite and arms, and that the purpose of the expedition was to land on the north side of Jamaica, and to attack the beach at Anotta Bay.

Capt. Miller's defence is that he was approached to sign a charter for Cuba, but on learning the nature of the cargo refused to go. He was, however, taken to the Falmouth District Prison, where he was held for four days. He was then released, and is now at large. The expedition was captured by the Cuban Junta here, with whom Señor Larra has been for some time in contact. The expedition was intended to land on the north side of Jamaica, and was to be a surprise attack on the beach at Anotta Bay.

CLEVELAND AND CANOVAS.

What Will Spain's Answer Be to the Proposal of the United States?

MADRID, Dec. 16.—Several newspapers say that Premier Canovas must give an answer before Dec. 16 to President Cleveland in reference to the latter's suggestion for bringing about a treaty of settlement of the Cuban conflict. In case the Premier should not accept the President's views upon the subject, Mr. Cleveland will be at liberty to act as his Government thinks best with regard to the Cuban problem.

Opinion is divided as to what is to be the course that must be followed. While Señor Canovas seems to be in favor of war until the insurrection has been crushed, the Duke of Tetuan, who is the representative of Gen. Martínez Campos in the Ministry, is inclined to favor negotiations with the United States upon the basis proposed by Cleveland.

Commenting upon this, El País says: "The idea is not to be tolerated that after Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, the flag of the top of the mountains in Pinar del Rio to the Minister of Foreign Affairs may humbly lower it before the United States."

A despatch from Havana says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city.

The correspondent of the Heroldo in Havana writes: "Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

"What else? How is Weyler going to punish the insurgents who may be captured unarmed? Will he not use the same method as he used in the province of Pinar del Rio to concentrate in the city? He then went to the field. What kind of war is it? What is the difference between the war which is being fought and the war which was fought? All I know is what the edict said: 'All persons who do not comply with its provisions shall be considered as rebels.'"

At least Gen. Weyler can now do it to rigorously enforce his decree, and consequently he will not be able to do so. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city.

The Duke of Madrid, Spanish Ambassador to Paris, has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city.

The annual dinner of Lafayette Park, G. A. R., was held at the St. Den Hotel last night. Adm. Richard D. Webb, U. S. Navy, was the Commander of the post, presided. At the table with him were Commander E. C. Stahl of New Jersey, Gen. Cyrus Bussey, Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, ex-Judge George W. Van Hoesen, Post-Department Commander Ira M. Hodges, Commander Henry C. Hamilton, Post, and Gen. Daniel Butterfield.

In introducing Gen. Sickles, Adm. Webb referred to the fact that Gen. Sickles was a member of the G. A. R., and that he was a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city.

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

Gen. Sickles' only reference to the Cuban question came at the end of his speech, when he said: "I am not a member of the G. A. R., and I am not a member of the G. A. R. The despatch says that Gen. Weyler has been driven from the island, and that the light from the flag will illuminate the city."

THE CITY OF JERSEY.

A Dense Population in the North and Sparsely Settled Counties in the South.

The State census of New Jersey taken in 1885 shows the population of the State at that time to be 1,072,941. Since that time the population has increased about 125,000, and is now in the neighborhood of 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000. The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

The population of the State is now about 1,200,000, or rather less than the population of the city of New York by the Board of Health figures. Newark has a population now estimated at 215,000. Jersey City has 150,000 people; Paterson, which is to furnish the United States with a Vice-President after March 4, 65,000; Camden, 55,000, and Trenton, the capital, 60,000. These are the five chief cities of New Jersey, and if to them be added the smaller cities, the total population of the State is about 1,200,000.

MORE SPANISH SQUIRRELING.

EFFORTS TO DISCREDIT THE REPORTED MURDER OF MACEO.

Weyler and the Rest of Them Flourishing in a Mass of Contradictions—Spaniards in Cuba Really Believe That with Macao and Gomez Dead the Conflict Would End.

HAVANA, Dec. 16, via Key West.—When it was first known here that the news of the assassination of Gen. Macao had reached the United States in spite of the great care taken to prevent it by the press, the Spanish newspapers remained silent. It was considered at the palace impolitic to talk about the subject, and it was hoped that the report would be forgotten. Now all the newspapers refer to the matter in their editorial columns, and the Diario de la Marina, La Union Constitucional, and La Lucha flatly deny that Macao was assassinated and attribute his death to the "heroism" of Major Cirujeda and his column of 400 men and the cowardice of the 3,000 insurgents who, they say, were led by Macao. The editors of these newspapers have called at the palace before making their statements, receiving hints for their articles from the Marquis of Abumada and the Marquis of Palmera, secretaries of the Captain-General, who have been the mainstay of the Spanish press in Cuba. The origin of the news is attributed by these Spanish editors to the Cuban Junta in New York, which they abuse in the grossest terms. The Sun and other New York newspapers are called "official organs of the Junta." The Diario de la Marina has a letter from its correspondent in New York, Señor A. Cuyas, to the effect that the Junta has bought the American press and the prominent men who defend the Cuban cause in America, giving them millions in bonds payable when Cuba shall be free. This enormous claim was first printed in the Diario de la Marina, and is now repeated in respect to the assassination of Macao.

Among the Cubans in Havana there is great indignation over these insulting charges against the American friends of Cuba, because the Spanish newspapers do not state that the responsibility for the insults rests upon the Spanish Government, for not a single line is published in the Havana press without the previous consent and endorsement on the part of the Government censor.

The Spanish censor, who is Señor Mills, Morgan, Call, and every other member of the American Senate known as a friend of Cuba is bribed by the Junta in New York. They say with regard to the assassination of Gen. Macao that the story published in New York was concocted by Señor Estrada Palma and the other Cuban newspapers.

Gen. Weyler has received a long despatch from Minister Dupuy de Lome in which the General is urged to stoutly deny that Macao was murdered. Señor Dupuy de Lome considers it of the greatest importance to the Spanish cause to disprove as possible the insinuation introduced in the United States by the treacherous act of Spain.

From Madrid also Weyler has received a long despatch which is supposed by some to be from the Duke of Tetuan and by others from Canovas. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler, in which Canovas tells Weyler that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler.

The despatch is supposed to be from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to Weyler. It is supposed that the despatch is from Canovas, and that it is a letter from Canovas to